Thomas W. Harris Dies Tuesday After Long Illness

Thomas W. Harris, 89, one of Narberth's best known merchants, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bessie M. Peters, 220 Woodbine avenue, Narberth, on Tuesday, after a long illness. Mr. Harris was a resident of the Borough for more than 30 years, and conducted a grocery store there for some time.

He was a member of the American Mechanics and for more than 40 years a deacon of the Frankford Baptist Church.

He is survived by a son, William T. Harris, of Philadelphia; two daughters, Mrs. Bessie M. Peters, of Narberth, and Mrs. Clarence Brennan, Sr., of Frankford, and a brother, Walter Harris, of Frankford.

Funeral services will be held from the Brennan residence, 226 Waking street, Frankford, this afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock. Burial will be in East Peter's Hill.

Home Bake Tomorrow
The Ladies' Aid Society of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a home bake this Saturday, at 207 Haverford avenue. There will be home-made cakes, pies, rolls, potato salad, baked beans and peanut candy. All will be reasonably priced.

Merchandising Expert Speaks to Rotarians

The need of trade associations for the furtherance of business relations formed the topic of a talk Tuesday before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club by F. St. Elmo Lewis, merchandising expert and author.

Mr. Lewis defined the work of trade groups as a form of adult education. "We are too sure of too many things which are not true," he said, "and through trade associations we can get facts and ideas instead of opinions and hunches."

Of the 19,000 associations in the country only 500 can be regarded as of any value to their membership, he said. The basis of this work is cost finding and training, the foundation of business profits.

The speaker emphasized the need of training for salesmen and of a careful study of consumer needs by every type of business. "The fundamental purpose of any business is to serve the community," he said, "and to do this you must go out and study the customer."

The first Fall meeting of the James C. Simpson Men's Association of the Narberth Baptist Church will be held at 8.00 o'clock on Tuesday evening, at which time Henry A. Frye, Burgess of the Borough of Narberth, will give a talk upon the History of the Borough and the Workings of the Borough Government. The talk, which will be illustrated by maps and charts is not in the nature of a discussion of the question of merger; it is entirely informative of the history of the Borough and the workings of the Borough Government.

Following Mr. Frye's talk the Association will hold its first annual business meeting for the adoption of a constitution and by-laws and the election of officers.

An interesting and instructive evening is in store and all men of the community are cordially invited to be present. The meeting is open to men of all denominations as the association is entirely non-sectarian in character.

More Boro Residents Favor Merger Plan

Committee Claims 1000 Signatures to Petition in Circulation

SEEK 2000 SIGNATURES

Close to 1000 residents of Narberth have now signed the petitions being circulated in the Borough, asking the nullification of the Borough's charter and its inclusion in Lower Merion Township, according to Arthur W. Burns, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, advocating the merger.

Getting the signatures of two-thirds of the taxable inhabitants for the petition, which is necessary in order to have the matter considered by the Court, is now "mathematically certain of accomplishment," Mr. Burns stated. While about 1700 signatures would meet the legal requirements, he said, the aim of the Committee is 2000.

A house to house canvass of the Borough is now being conducted with 10 copies of the petition in use. The percentage of signatures secured is about the same, regardless of the streets, Mr. Burns said. Merion avenue, where many of the most strenuous objections to the movement arose, is now about 70 per cent. signed up. "Many people," said Mr. Burns, "who previously had expressed themselves as opposed to the merger, are now signing the petition. When they get a chance to view the thing logically instead of emotionally their opinions undergo a change."

"We hope to get the necessary signatures within four or five weeks, so that the petition can be presented to the Court and action taken before the end of the year."

A card index is kept, he said, of all residents of the Borough, which is checked as soon as the matter has been presented to them.

All Men Urged to Attend Boys' Meeting Wednesday

This idea of corraling those lads of Narberth who have reached the stage of washing their own ears, and banding them together in an attractive organization, will go a step further next Wednesday evening, October 26, when the "Charter Meeting" will be held at the Legion room, and those boys who want to get in on the ground floor must be present and do up or forever hold their peace.

To add distinction to the occasion, Professor E. H. Snow, principal of Lower Merion Junior High, will hold forth on some of the many things he knows about boys.

A cordial invitation is extended to all men of the community to attend, as the speeches, it is said, will be well worth hearing, and the open forum will afford ample opportunity to advance suggestions as to how the work and welfare in mind can best be accomplished.

Fred Walzer, Lou Young, Art Cooke and John Mowrer are some of those in the forefront of the movement, which from the beginning has been actively aided and abetted by Burgess Frye, who lets it be known that Narberth officialdom will regard membership in the club as quite the right idea, and an expression on the boy's part that he agrees that, after all, corner gangs are not so good, not so good, at all.

There is no doubt there should be a host of men at the meeting—and you ought to be there if you can possibly arrange it.

THE SPECTATOR.

Officers Re-Elected by St. Margaret's Guild

At the October meeting of St. Margaret's Guild, Mrs. C. J. Goodyear was re-elected president; Mrs. J. M. Townsend, vice-president; Mrs. C. A. Stoudt, secretary, and Mrs. J. M. Henry, treasurer.

The following chairmen have been appointed: Hospitality Committee—Mrs. J. H. Link; Sewing, Mrs. M. J. McDermott; Membership, Mrs. Pierre Laird.

The sewing circle will meet on Wednesdays at one o'clock in the library of the school to recondition clothing for the needy.

Mrs. Robert Riethmiller, of 521 Prescott road, Merion, will give a bridge party in her home on Wednesday, October 26, at two o'clock.

Republican Rally Next Friday at Theatre Hall

A Republican Rally will be held in the Borough next Friday evening at the Narberth Theatre Hall, it was announced this week.

Many of the outstanding candidates will be present at the meeting, which is sponsored by the Johnson organization of Narberth. Its president, Henry Smith, is in charge of the meeting.

Watch next week's edition of "Our Town" for complete details on this rally, which will be the only big G. O. P. get-together in the Borough before election.

Narberth Boys' Club Wins Second Victory

Rally in Last Half Gives Boro
Eleven 20-12 Win Over Wissinoming

PLAY OVERBROOK SAT.

The Narberth Boys' Club staged a rally in the third and fourth quarters of their game with the Wissinoming Blue Jackets at the Playground last Saturday to overcome the visitors' early lead and win 20-12. It was their second victory of the season.

The Narberth eleven, coached by Art Cooke and Lou Young, scored first when "Al" Aigledinger skirted right end for thirty yards, crossing the goal line without an opponent laying hands on him. A. Humphries added the extra point on a pass from McGarry.

Wissinoming scored a touchdown in the second period on a plunge from the one-yard line on four down. The visitors scored again in the third period with an aerial attack.

A fifty-yard march late in the third period by Narberth turned the tide. Aigledinger, Peters and A. Humphries led the attack of the Borough gridders, with Humphries crossing the line on an off-tackle slice.

Aigledinger also scored in the fourth quarter by intercepting a Wissinoming forward that was knocked into his hands by Peters, a teammate. The extra point was converted by a pass, McGarry to A. Humphries.

The play of the Narberth line was a bit ragged in the first half, but tightened in the second. G. Humphries and Shea were outstanding in the forward wall, while Aigledinger and A. Humphries shone in the backfield.

Narberth will play the Overbrook Bulldogs this Saturday.

The line-up:
Narberth Wissinoming
Young left end Gail
G. Humphries left tackle Miller
Thomas centre Winkelman
Shea right guard Lumb
Amesbury right tackle Cartwright
O'Keefe right end Leninger
McGarry quarterback Theiss
Keim left halfback Cheesman
A. Nelson right halfback Rancher

New Bank to Open Within Thirty Days

Charter Granted Main Line
Trust Company This Week

IN MERION TITLE BLDG.

The new Main Line Trust Company, which was granted a State Charter at Harrisburg this week, will open its doors in the Merion Title and Trust Compan Building at Ardmore within thirty days, according to R. S. McKinley, president of the institution.

The incorporators of the new trust company are William W. Bodine, of Villanova, vice-president of the U. G. I.; Robert K. Cassatt, of Rosemont, member of the investment banking firm of Cassatt and Company, and M. W. Clement, of Haverford, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, all of whom are directors of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities.

Officers of the new institution are John H. Mason, of Merion, chairman of the Board of Directors; Richard S. McKinley, of Wayne, president, and William J. Lloyd, of Germantown, secretary and treasurer.

Negotiations are now in progress with the State Banking Department over the terms by which the new trust company will occupy the Merion Title Building. It is understood that certain minor alterations will have to be made before the new institution can open for business.

It is rumored that the new bank will not provide employment for any of the tellers or other employees of the closed Merion Title or Counties Title, as all of the necessary employees will be recruited from the Pennsylvania Company.

The Main Line Trust Company will have a capital of $250,000 and a surplus of $250,000, all of the stock being owned by the Pennsylvania Company.

Boys' Club to Seek Third Victory Tomorrow

Narberth's young gridiron warriors who wear the colors of the newly organized Narberth Boys' Club will go into battle for the third time tomorrow when the Overbrook Bears will put in an appearance at the Playground to try for a win over Coach Art Cooke's promising proteges.

Cooke will have all but one of his regulars in the game, since Amesbury, star tackle, is on the injured list with a badly cut eye, which he received in last Saturday's struggle against Wissinoming, whom the local gridders defeated in a furious battle.

Although the football team has the spotlight now, plans are going ahead for placing a fast basketball team in the Main Line League. Coach Harry Hollar expects to call the court candidates out for the initial practice soon and is expected to be well fortified with talent.

Reminiscences of the Main Line of over half a century ago, when there were five houses in Merion, one in Narberth and about thirty in what is now Bala-Cynwyd, will be told by Luther C. Parsons at the October meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd's Neighborhood Club. It will be held at 8.15 P. M. next Tuesday at Cynwyd Fire Hall.

Hess is Host to Nearly 500 Republicans at Annual Corn Boil at Gladwyne Saturday

Recognized and intelligent leadership is the only dependable factor to guide the people in times of economic depression, declared J. William Ditter, Montgomery County Republican candidate for United States Congress, speaking at the annual corn boil in Gladwyne last Saturday afternoon.

Peter C. Hess, Lower Merion Township treasurer, was host for the nearly 500 persons who attended the picnic. It was the largest corn boil in the history of local Republican circles. Charles Johnson, Republican leader of Montgomery County, was the honored guest.

Mr. Ditter's remarks were directed to the necessity of wise leadership to avoid political chaos.

"I am proud to be a candidate where there is party regularity under wise leadership," said Mr. Ditter. "I prefer to be such a candidate rather than to campaign for Congress with no issue at all. A dissatisfied group of opportune candidates masquerading as independent Republicans is no substitution for leadership. It is a political burlesque. Neither can our opponents call their Pinchot-smitten campaign directors 'leaders' and our directors 'bosses.' The subterfuge is too obvious. Voters no longer fall for such word juggling."

Mr. Hess, in introducing the speakers, predicted that Lower Merion would turn in substantial majorities for all candidates on the Republican ticket. He announced that the Republican Association of Lower Merion has endorsed the national, state and county Republican tickets.

Other speakers included Mrs. John

Local Movies

Narberth Theatre Marks Fifth Anniversary With Several Good Photoplays

Celebrating its fifth anniversary, the Narberth Theatre, under management of Maurice Fried, offers these attractions:

"Down To Earth," this week-end, with Will Rogers at his best as a philosopher-humorist weathering the depression.

"Skyscraper Souls," next Monday and Tuesday, in which Warren William and a good cast handle an unusual tale of big-city life very well.

"Make Me A Star," Wednesday and Thursday, is based on "Merton of the Movies," and gives interesting views of Hollywood and its stars, as background for an amusing performance by Stuart Erwin, Joan Blondell and Ben Turpin.

"Washington Masquerade," next week-end, is one of the best and most entertaining movies yet produced; very timely because of its political angle.

"Washington Masquerade" at Egyptian; "Unashamed" and "Brown of Culver" Next

Ending this week, in which the Egyptian is being congratulated on its fifth anniversary, the Cynwyd playhouse this Friday and Saturday evenings presents "Washington Masquerade," brilliant, amusing, interesting political satire, with an outstanding cast that includes Lionel Barrymore, Karen Morley and Nils Arthur. Also on the program are a Mickey Mouse comedy and Laurel and Hardy in "The Chimp."

Manager Joseph Conway is continuing the children's parties that have brought batches of letters from parents, praising his selection of films. Last Saturday's was the largest attendance in many months. This Saturday the feature will be "Riders of Death Valley," a stirring Western drama with Tom Mix as the star.

Said to be based on the Main Line's Allen murder trial, "Unashamed," at the Egyptian next Monday and Tuesday, has aroused considerable comment here. Among other highlights of the story is a dramatic court room scene. This film is not recommended for children, who are requested, in co-operation with Bala-Cynwyd's Parent-Teachers' Association, not to attend the theatre on evenings early in the school week.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, the Egyptian will present "Tom Brown of Culver," filmed at Culver Military Academy. A tale of real boys, with no romance, but plenty of heart interest. Its cast includes H. B. Warner, Richard Cromwell, Comedian Slim Summerville, and Tom Brown, whose performance is praised as one of unassuming candor. The film is wholesome entertainment, of interest to everyone, and especially to young people, whose parents are urged to bring them.

Next Friday and Saturday Buster Keaton and "Schnozzle" Durante will amuse in "Speak Easily," a Saturday Evening Post story. Coming November 2 and 3 is Will Rogers in "Down To Earth."

Student Exhibits Feature Friends' Central Fair

Exhibits made by the students during the summer vacation featured the fourth annual Fair held at Friends' Central School, Overbrook, last Friday.

Among the most popular of the exhibits were outboard motor boats built by William G. Turnbull, Jr., and George Orr, Jr., both of the Class of 1933. Model airplanes designed and built by Daniel C. Marshall, Class of 1934, also came in for attention.

The pet show, which included a real live pig and a goat, cats, dogs, turtles, etc., attracted much attention. Faculty members also had exhibits of their summer activities.

All money raised from the sale of these articles will be used to purchase new books for the libraries of the upper and lower schools. The selling of many of these things was helped to a very marked degree by the colorful and effective posters and decorations which were made under the direction of the Art Department.

Two Books of Joseph Fort Newton Available at Library

The announcement of the opening of the winter series of Community services has awakened in the minds of Library readers an interest in the books of Joseph Fort Newton, who is to be the speaker on this coming Sunday night.

Dr. Newton, in addition to his long service as a preacher in the middle west, as the representative from the Churches of the United States in an unofficial ambassadorship to the Churches of Great Britain, which placed him for three years at the City Temple in London, and now in Philadelphia as one of its leading ministers, is also the author of many books of historical, biographical, and religious import. The Library is fortunate enough to have in its collection two of these books "Preaching in London," and "The New Preaching."

The former, as its name implies, deals with Dr. Newton's experience at the City Temple during the years from 1916-1919, drawn from his diary of that period. His comments on the affairs of that time and especially on the influence of the war on the religious beliefs of the people with whom he came in contact are very searching.

"The New Preaching," published in 1930, contains many provocative suggestions as to what is needed in the pulpit. Dr. Newton lays his claim to a certain understanding of the problems of the preacher to his experience not only as a man of the pulpit but also as the man in the pew, both in England and in this country, although he denies any special qualifications for discussing the subject except his love of preaching and his firm faith in its efficacy. The chapter headings as "The Sermon," "The Preacher," "The New Congregation" and "The Music of Preaching" are very intriguing. Perhaps there could be no better introduction to Dr. Newton before attending the service than may be received through reading these books. They are now available at the Library.

Mrs. Fred Derby and twelve members of the King's Daughters of Narberth, attended the Montgomery County Meeting of Kings Daughters in Glenside on Wednesday.

Miss Madeline Peck Weds Mr. Andrew W. Stutz Oct. 12

The marriage of Miss Madeline Lucile Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sanders Peck, of Woodside avenue, and Mr. Andrew William Stutz, took place quietly on Wednesday evening, October 12, in the presence of the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Mrs. Emily C. Woodruff, grandmother of the bride, and a retired Congregational minister, of Chataqua, N. Y., performed the ceremony. Mrs. William Lavanace was the matron of honor and only attendant for her sister, while Mr. George Beck, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

A supper followed the ceremony. Upon their return from a wedding trip Mr. Stutz and his bride will reside in Brooklyn, N. Y. They will be at home after November 1.

This Merger Business

The progress which the Citizens' Committee claims to be making in adding signatures to the scroll which may be the death warrant of Narberth, so far as its Borough status goes, may well cause alarm to those who prize the civic spirit and neighborliness of Narberth residents.

Economically the arguments advanced by the Merger Committee are sound and convincing. Doubtless Borough residents would have fatter purses were the area merged with Lower Merion. And in times like these economic arguments carry much weight.

The saving the merger would achieve on the Borough end, exclusive of the School District, is small and with prospects of a reduction next year of two to three mills in the Borough tax rate, cuts even less. Considered from the viewpoint of the School Districts there is more to be said for the merger. Not that the Narberth School is less efficient than Lower Merion Public Schools. The question is purely an economic one. Mounting costs of education, increased tuition of Borough pupils at Lower Merion and larger enrollments in the public school have created a difficult problem for the Narberth School District. The costs of education increase and the revenue is stationary, unless the school tax rate is raised.

Granted then, that a merger of the Township and Borough would be desirable inasmuch as it would automatically merge the school districts and unburden the Narberth area of providing the total costs of education for its children from a limited revenue.

It seems to us, however, that certain arguments, not just sentimental ones, can be advanced against the merger proposal. From our observation over a period of years of the local government of both Lower Merion and Narberth, we have been impressed by the personal attention given in the Borough to the various problems confronting its citizens. There is more direct contact between the individual and the governing body. More democracy, if you please.

We have also been impressed by the fairness with which Narberth Councilmen will discuss controversial matters. Any citizen with a grievance may come before Council and have a hearing and be given frank answers to his questions. The people are taken into the confidence of Council and not given evasive replies and smiling generalities.

Without criticizing the governing ability of the Township Commissioners we would point out that that body, composed of thirteen members, is more likely to be influenced by political considerations, that decisions are reached at "executive sessions" behind closed doors, that the interests of 35,000 people cannot be administered with as exact a feeling for the individual by 13 men as can the interests of 4,500 by seven.

Narberth's seven Councilmen are elected at large from the Borough. With a small population and an area of one square mile it is easy to know personally the men who govern the Borough. In Lower Merion one Commissioner is elected by each of the thirteen voting districts. The Township covers an area of twenty-five square miles. It stands to reason that the men who sit in the Commissioners' chairs at Ardmore cannot give personal attention to the interests of that wide-flung area. It is all they can do to keep in touch with their own district.

That government which is supported by an intelligent and alert public opinion is, in our opinion, the best, and from observation the Narberth people, to a much greater degree than in Lower Merion, have a larger share and interest in their government. That this results from the Borough form of government, we have no doubt, and it is a heritage we should weigh well before signing away.

Ferry Ride

That tunnel by which the Pennsylvania Railroad conveys its passengers from the Jersey shore under the North river to Manhattan is a great achievement which is already an old story for those people with whom traveling is merely the attainment of some more or less distant objective in the shortest possible time with the least possible effort. But for those with whom to travel anywhere is always an exhilarating experience for eyes and ears and all the senses, the ferry ride across the North river is much preferable to any borrow in the ground where, with hollow rumblings and pressed ear-drums, one avoids the sight of a most interesting river. The Vagrant is an inveterate ferry-boat rider anyway. He hates tunnels and always enters one with forebodings of disaster and emerges with gratitude to those patient gods who watch over his wanderings. Hence it happened that recently he persuaded Gregory that their trip to New York should be by a ferry route, and that was no mean accomplishment for Gregory is very modern even to the point of being thoroughly air-minded.

Big Ships

As the ferry crept out from her slip into the crowded stream, quoth Gregory, "Now don't mention the sky line!" which did deprive The Vagrant of an obvious subject for comment; no loss, however, as it turned out, for that short voyage brought them almost alongside the great "Leviathan" and the greater, more shapely "Aquatania," as each was being escorted up stream by tugs. What a sight was there! Those beautiful boats! The passengers on the decks! Their national ensigns, visiting-port flags and house pennants all flying in the October breeze! Silently, majestically they slid through the narrow waters without apparent effort. What greater thing has man created than an ocean liner? Great in size, but greater in beauty and serenity, and greatest in personality! How different are the stolid German lines of the "Leviathan," nee "Vaterland," from the slim elegance of the "Aquatania!" And with all due respect to the Stars and Stripes on the "Leviathan," there is an amazing connotation of maritime competence in that British mercantile marine ensign on the "Aquatania"—a mistress of the seas wherever she is and regardless of whose arm of the sea it may happen to be!

Food

Although The Vagrant's nationalism wavers to the point of preferring to travel on a ship of British registry, still when it comes to the food to be consumed on the voyage he is usually 100 per cent American. If there is anything better than an American menu managed by British dining-room service, The Vagrant has yet to find it in his travels. British service cannot overcome the deficiencies of British food, and the enjoyment of American food is often impaired by the slap-dash style of American table-service. American waiters are too familiar; to them every diner is a "prospect" to be sold "a line of food" by the same bold cajolery that has put America at the front of the business world. French food is excellent; in fact, it is the French influence alone that has raised the American diet from its original British unsavoriness, but French waiters do not appeal to the Vagrant. Patronizing or cringing or smirking, whichever manner they disclose, they always seem to be greedy. Doubtless there is nothing about the gastronomic skill nor the twenty-word French vocabulary of The Vagrant which inspires respect in French waiters, and more accomplished Americans may not have the same experience with them. An exception should be made in favor of one pretty French waitress. She was as anxious to try out on The Vagrant the English which she had learned during a short sojourn in Scotland as was The Vagrant to impose his equally scanty French on her friendly ears. She spoke her English horribly; The Vagrant handled his French in his best high-school manner, which was equally horrible to her, no doubt, but the omelette aux fines herbes was delicious and that sidewalk cafe was a charming spot. There the story stops. Unlike many American men who have been in Paris, The Vagrant is neither inclined nor able to disclose any spicy flavor in the story of his Parisian experiences which were delightful principally because of the companionship of that enthusiastic and accomplished traveler, La Vagrante!

Straight Republican

To the Editor of "Our Town:"

After listening to a man by the name of Senator Norris, who delivered an address over the radio on Wednesday, October 19, I can't but believe that is no wonder that such men are not taken in with the men who sit in the United States Senate. A radical who has no regard for any one, who does not see things as he does. To attack the President of this United States and make remarks such as were made over the radio, I can see now how it came about that his broadcast was shut off. The record of this man will show that he has no regards for either party. Just a man without a country. He is in my judgment, and in a great many others, no doubt, should go over to Russia, where those things can be said and done. I am proud that when the President Herbert Hoover speaks on the radio he refrains from petty remarks. At the close, let me leave this message with all my friends in the Borough and in our County that there have been remarks made to the effect that I am supporting the Democratic ticket. I can only say in answer that I am asking all my friends in this Borough and County to support the entire Republican ticket. I have always and proud to say that I am and always will be a Republican. I have at times supported Democratic men in our Borough for Borough of-ice. Again I ask you who believe in the things that our party stands for to bring all your friends and neighbors to the polls and vote the straight Republican ticket.

Very truly yours,
FRED WALZER.

Many Club Officials at Narberth Luncheon

State president, made a short address, as well as Mrs. Marburg, Mrs. Witte and Mrs. Nichols.

The speaker of the afternoon was Don Rose, columnist and editorial writer for a Philadelphia newspaper. According to Mr. Rose, a columnist is generally looked upon as a humorist by the laity, but this is not always so. "A columnist," he said, "is an individual and plays on the old ego quite a bit. But if the old ego is played on too much, the column will die a lingering death."

Regarding the editorial page, Mr. Rose expressed regret that it is not more generally read. From a recent investigation it appears that only about twenty per cent of the newspaper readers digest it. Hence, said Mr. Rose, the reason for placing a column on that page. Many of these editorials are written by experts, although none are ever signed. The editorial policy, if any, always appears on that page.

The newspaper's place as an educational factor was also traced by the speaker.

The Hospitality Committee, under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. V. O. Krauskop, served a very delightful luncheon. Those assisting were Mrs. J. E. Burrell, Mrs. Robert Compton, Mrs. Verna Woodcock, Mrs. E. A. Lane, Mrs. C. W. Sunderland, Mrs. Samuel MacAdams, Mrs. E. S. Deubler, Mrs. A. W. Burns, Mrs. Joseph Burns, Mrs. L. P. Miller, Mrs. C. W. Whistler, Mrs. E. H. Walker and Mrs. J. Fred Kuebler, Jr.

The next meeting of the club will be held in the Community Building on November 1, at 2.30 P. M. The program will be in charge of the Legislative Committee, Mrs. W. Russell Green, chairman. Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., will be the speaker and her subject will be "The Forthcoming Election." Mrs. J. E. Burrell will be the hostess.

Will exhibit Illustrative Paintings and Murals in the Shull Galleries, No. 25 Bala Ave., Bala-Cynwyd, October 20 to November 19. Rooms open daily 8.30 to 5, Wednesday evenings 8 to 10 and Sundays 2 to 5 P. M.

Wyeth and Schwarz Exhibit in Cynwyd

Works of Two Outstanding Artists in Exhibition at Shull Galleries

An exhibit of the illustrative paintings of two prominent artists opens today at the Shull Galleries, 25 Bala avenue, Bala-Cynwyd. There will be shown a large collection of the works of N. C. Wyeth, internationally known illustrator, together with a group of the paintings of William Tefft Schwarz, of Merion.

Both the artists whose works appear in this interesting local exhibit are well-known throughout the Main Line. Mr. Wyeth, whose colorful illustrations adorn some twenty juvenile classics, studied with Howard Pyle. He is a member of the Society of Illustrators, the Water Color Club, and is a Fellow of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. His work includes five large murals in the new First National Bank, Boston, and a group of panels in the Hubbard Memorial Building, Washington. The present exhibition contains the greatest number of his paintings to be shown in the Philadelphia District for many years.

Mr. Schwarz, whose studio is in Bala-Cynwyd, is a noted muralist. His work graces the walls of the Utica Hotel at Utica, N. Y.; the Bancroft, at Worcester, Mass.; the Dennis, at Atlantic City and the Episcopal Academy. Last year he completed a great set of historical murals and ceiling piece with the figures of the zodiac for the Onondaga County Savings Bank, Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. Schwarz developed under the tutelage of Charles Hawthorne at Provincetown and at the Julien School and Colorrise in Paris. During the World War he was in charge of art work in surgery and made the life masks of the members of the Peace Conference. As president of the Main Line Business Men's Sketch Club Mr. Schwarz has used his skill in the encouragement of art work on the Main Line.

The exhibition is open to the public without charge every week-day from 8.30 to 5.00; Wednesday evenings from 8.00 to 10.00, and Sunday afternoons from 2.00 to 5.00.

St. Mary's Laundry Wins State Certification

A distinction granted to but 31 of the hundreds of laundries in Pennsylvania has come to St. Mary's Laundry, Ardmore, through its certification for cleanliness, sanitation and care. Award of the certificate followed an exhaustive inspection by the Scientific Research Commission of the Pennsylvania Laundry-owners' Association.

St. Mary's, owned by Assemblyman Fred C. Peters and J. Herbert Baltz, a member of the Lower Merion School Board, has long enjoyed a reputation for progressive methods, sponsored by the pride of its owners. In explaining the distinction which has come to the Main Line firm, Mr. Baltz said this week:

"The standards set for the inspections are so rigid that only about ten per cent. of the members of the State Association have been able to earn the certificate. The research is conducted by Pennsylvania State College, and this State is one of the few to establish the plan up to this time.

"St. Mary's had to submit to the most exhaustive inspection, including the washing of test bundles, which were sent to State College for study. Washing, which, of course, is the heart of good laundry work, is the principal point in the inspection. The washing formulae must pass muster for its ability to do a clean and sanitary job, and to accomplish this with a minimum of depreciation in tensile strength and color of the materials handled.

"Inspections are made four times a year, and are in the form of surprise visits. The standard must be maintained at all times, or the certificate is cancelled. One benefit from the inspections is the ability of the laundry to discover for itself opportunities for improvement.

"We have an advantage in the use of Springfield water from which we remove all minerals. The use of this 'zero water and the correct formulae make correct washing a certainty."

Brookline Country Club Opened by Mecke Today

Taking over the house and grounds of the former Brookline Square Club, J. Howard Mecke, Jr., Inc., is holding a formal opening Friday evening for the Brookline Country Club, which will be operated under the same management as Peacock Gardens, on the Main Line.

Mr. Mecke has announced that the entire building has been decorated, renovated and refurnished, and the complete facilities of the property, including the large club house, with the largest ballroom outside of Philadelphia, with accommodations for approximately 2000 people, twelve tennis courts, and a fine swimming pool will be available to the public, the swimming pool on both a public and a club membership plan.

With the thought of making available a satisfactory place where meeting and banquets may be held, Mecke has arranged for a banquet department, which will supervise and give estimates for dinners, weddings, birthday, fraternal, club and afternoon bridge parties in any one of the numerous attractive dining rooms.

"Doc" Hyder and his orchestra of twelve pieces will be the musical attraction at the Country Club at Brookline. It is Mecke's plan to operate the club with the same policies which made Peacock Gardens a popular gathering place for Philadelphia and suburban residents.

The cover charge for the restaurant will be fifty cents per person on week-days, and seventy-five cents per person on Saturdays and holidays. It will not be open on Sundays.

BUSINESS BITS

Opportunity for everyone to turn Indian, cowboy, clown or pirate is presented in the Hallowe'en costumes now on display at Davis' store. And there are masks to go with them—all sorts of hideous and funny faces. Davis' ad this week also mentions a pleasing variety of nuts, chocolates and hard candies, and decorations and party favors.

Boymel's fruit market on Haverford avenue, opposite Narberth station, closed last year in the face of price competition among Narberth's fruit markets. When Mr. Boymel reopened his place early in the summer of this year, he was invited to place advertising messages consistently in "Our Town." "No, I think I'll try circulars for a while, first," he said, "and see what happens." He added his circulars to the number that arrive daily on Narberth's doorsteps. The store closed last week.

Opens Kindergarten

Miss Margaret Lambert is re-opening for the fourth year her kindergarten and nursery school, at her home on Shady lane, Narberth. It is for children from three to five years of age.

In an ad this week the Arcadia Restaurant in Narberth announces dancing, 9 P. M. to 2 A. M., in connection with its excellent food service. There is no cover charge. Plans are being made for a program of fun for Hallowe'en.

M. L. Boys in Wenonah Drill Team Wednesday, Appearing at Egyptian

One of the features in the showing of the picture, "Brown of Culver," at the Egyptian Theatre next Wednesday night, will be a demonstration of close order and manual of arms drill by a platoon of cadets from the Wenonah Military Academy, Wenonah, N. J. They will appear in their uniforms of West Point grey and shakos.

Colonel Stanley R. Putnam, commandant of cadets at Wenonah, was, while a member of the tactical staff at Culver Military Academy, one of the participants in the picture. He was transferred to Wenonah this fall. The sixteen cadets will be under the command of Cadet Major Manual Frome, of Philadelphia.

Among the Main Line boys in attendance at Wenonah are Malcolm and Franklin Weeks and Jack Shoemaker, Wayne; W. F. and W. L. Shewell, Narberth; Henry LeCour, Minor McGeorge and Deveraux Upham, Cynwyd; and William Mascianello, Ardmore. Captain Frederick C.

Patten, of Narberth, is the cadets' bandmaster.

Drum major of the band is Robert Arons, who was Lower Merion High School's drum major last year. The bugler and captain of the band is Minor McGeorge.

M. E. Men's Club Will Meet Next Thursday

A delightful evening awaits the members and friends of the Men's Club of Narberth M. E. Church at the home of Mr. Ernest A. Bailey, 607 Essex avenue, Narberth, Thursday next, at eight o'clock.

Mr. Bailey will turn over his cherished recreation room, located over the garage, to the use of the men, and will also use a projector in showing some interesting pictures, a few of which may give us an opportunity to see ourselves as "others" see us.

All the men of the community are invited and it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

The Water
You Want
... clean and safe

Of course you have seen the great reservoirs that safely hold the water that you drink—but do you also know about the filter plants that still further safeguard the purity of this water?

The water comes direct from the reservoirs and clarifying basins to these filter plants—and here its purity is further assured by gently flowing it through great sand filters.

You cannot reform water. It must be pure at its source and it must be kept pure every inch of the way until it reaches you. That is why the drinking water that we supply you with is safeguarded all along the route, from rippling country streams to the gushing flow that always comes from your faucet when

Mrs. Durham to Speak at First Council Meeting

Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, of Allentown, member of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, will be the speaker at the first meeting of the season of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women.

The meeting, a luncheon, will be held Tuesday at 1 P. M. at Whitehall, Haverford. All women voters are invited to attend. Those planning to attend are requested to call Mrs. W. Russell Green (Narberth 2267) by tomorrow. The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Herman L.
Schwartz.

Mrs. Durham, who will speak on "The Presidential Campaign," has had wide experience in politics. She has been an alternate delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention in 1924, 1928 and 1932. For four years she was vice-chairman of the Lehigh County Republican Committee and for two years vice-chairman of the Republican State Committee.

From 1929 to 1931 Mrs. Durham was president of the Woman's Club of Allentown.

Contract Bridge

This series of lessons, based on the Culbertson system, is prepared by Mrs. Georgene Sickels Van Court, of Beechwood, associate teacher of the Culbertson National Studios.

In this series Mrs. Van Court will endeavor to build up a simple and comprehensive picture of bidding procedure. The articles will be based to a large extent upon her booklet "An Outline of the Culbertson System."

Lesson III

The Take-Out Bid

Partner has bid One Heart. You bid One Spade. What message do you flash across the bridge table to him?

First, that you hold a biddable Spade suit and about one and a half defensive honor tricks.

Second, you neither affirm nor deny trump support for his bid.

Third, you request him to keep the bidding open if his hand contains a J better than 2½ defensive honor tricks, or a re-bid based on distribution. Otherwise he passes. For example, Partner bids One Heart and you hold:

—S—A—J—x—x—x
H—x—x—x
D—x—x—x
C—x—x

1—You bid One Spade.

2—S—A—Q—x—x

H—x—x—x
D—x—x—x
C—x—x

2—You bid One Spade.

3—S—A—Q—J—x—x—x

H—x—x—x
D—x—x—x
C—A—x—x

3—You bid One Spade.

4—S—A—Q—x—x—x

H—K—x—x—x
D—x—x—x
C—Q—x—x—x

4—You bid Four Hearts.

In the No. 4 hand, you do not show the Spade suit, because that minimum response does not adequately picture the strength of your hand, and if the original bidder had but minimum requirements he would pass, thereby missing a game at hearts.
Where there is a choice of making a minimum take-out bid in another suit or giving your Partner more than one raise choose the latter and stronger response.

Now, how does Partner (the original bidder) respond to your take-out bid? In this phase of partnership bidding many players fail. With the following hand Partner bids One Heart:

1—S—x—x—x—x
H—A—Q—x—x—x
D—A—x
C—x—x

You take him into One Spade with,

2—S—K—x—x—x—x
H—x—x
D—x—x
C—A—K—x—x

He should now re-value his hand,
as the supporting hand for your Spade bid. In which case, in trump he has ½ a trick; in Hearts, 2½ tricks; in Diamonds, 2 tricks; making a total of 5 tricks. His original bid promised you four playing tricks, therefore, since he has an extra trick
he raises you to Two Spades.

Now, since his raise tells you that he has 5 tricks, you will bid Four Spades, because your hand contains 5 tricks; also, making a total of 10 tricks between you.

By ROBERT J. EDGAR
The draught is over!

Over two inches of rain last Monday, which puts October almost an inch excess over normal and makes an excess of almost a half inch for the year.

A wet autumn means a whole lot to trees and shrubs. Theoretically, the soil stays frozen all winter and when spring comes the moisture is all ready for the roots to take up. Our winters are not quite so severe, but, nevertheless, much fall rain does make a better spring.

How many gardeners keep a garden scrap book? Clippings from newspapers and magazines, dated and pasted in a book, give us some good information and quite a little misinformation. One reader has clipped every one of our weekly garden columns.
Guess who? In a Philadelphia evening paper, last week, there was an article showing sketches of leaves of trees interesting for their fall coloring. This seemed well worth clipping, and, incidentally, it got the members of a certain garden club into a lot of trouble—gathering leaves of all the maples, gums and oaks, to be labeled and brought to the next meeting. The rather severe teacher, in the class in practical gardening, will probably have his own troubles with the oak leaves.

Burning leaves. The finest soil for gardening is made of old leaves that have been mixed with soil and exposed to frost and rain for one or two seasons. This is nature's way of making the rich soil of our woodland that nourishes trees and shrubs for many years. As most of our gardens are deficient in good soil it seems that we should save all leaves and compost them with soil to make good soil at little cost. While the leaves do seem to bulk large when first gathered a great quantity may be piled in a small space if they are thoroughly wet and weighted down with soil.
Garden refuse of all sorts, including roofs' stems, and sods may be added to the pile. Over winter, snow and rain will help to turn the leaves into fine compost that is almost impossible to buy. The leaves of oak, beech, dogwood, ash, hickory and other hardwood trees are especially good.
Leaves of poplar are especially bad,
on account of their leathery texture.
Maple leaves may be classed as fair.
But all leaves are good leaves for the compost pile. Leaves of old sycamore trees and horse chestnut are really better burned, as they carry over the spores of the fungus diseases that usually affect their leaves;
these fungus spores, however, only affect the same varieties of trees on which they originated. If it is at all practicable, compost all leaves rather than burn them. On small places, where the leaves are few and no space available, the leaves must be burned.

To borrow a line from our column of last October we quote: "All the rain in the April sky would never bring the garden miracles of May unless October toil gave it something to work on." No mention is made of the source of 1932 dollars with which to buy the daffodils and tulips for next May's flowering. But election day is coming! And soon we will know if it will be the steady hand of Herbert Hoover at the helm or the "magic wand" of F. D. Roosevelt that will make 1933 a step forward or a slide to rotten politics. It COULD be worse—and it might have been a lot worse.

Seed of blue cornflower, annual poppies and annual pinks may be sown among the tulips for early flowering next spring.

November is shrub planting time.

Time to hang up the suet log—and keep it filled!

Autocar Company Receives Large Volume of Orders

An indication of business revival was reported this week by the Auto-car Company, of Ardmore, which on Monday received the largest volume of orders of any day this year.

Company officials stated that Monday orders also exceeded in volume those for any day during October, 1931. They represent, it is said, orders from many different localities and not one large single order.

The Autocar Company is one of the few industrial concerns in the Philadelphia area which has not suspended operations at any time during the depression.

The new orders received by this organization will not mean the hiring of additional workers, officials stated.

indicate they are burial lots of Sarah Dewes, who was born November 10, 1757, and died July 11, 1844; and of John Frederick Bicking, born March 29, 1730, and who died November 4,

Maroon Eleven Downs Haverford Gridders

Failure to Convert Extra Points in 12-0 Victory Viewed With Alarm

L. M. EXHIBITS POWER

By TOMMY MACKLIN
The annual struggle with the Cornog eleven of Haverford High was played last Saturday afternoon at South Ardmore. The score favored Lower Merion, 12 to 0.

The result was a foregone conclusion, but the usual bitter opposition from the Red and Gold of our neighboring township school put the tang into the bracer which should strengthen the Adammen for coming battles with more dangerous foes.

The score, 12 to 0, has an ominous sound to those who give a great deal of thought to the destinies of the Maroon elevens. Two touchdowns seems a sufficient margin of victory, but with Norristown, Abington and Radnor having strong offensive teams, AND strong defensive strength along with it. Lower Merion might well be held to one touchdown in those most important games. If Lower Merion doesn't start converting their one-point tries into scores then we are afraid of a 7 to 6 loss in any of these bigger combats. Givens, of Abington, is a sure kicker for that extra point. Mongiello or Lamley, of Radnor, will average over 50 per cent. of their tries for that extra point, and Morgan, of Norristown, is a good placement man.

Lower Merion has scored six touchdowns in two games and has not converted even ONE extra point.

Other weaknesses and strengths were brought into the light in that Haverford game. Lack of intelligence in running the plays was probably the outstanding fault. Coach Adam has been trying out one or two huddle conductors, but the results in the Ford game didn't cause much solace or satisfaction. Perhaps it is too early in the season to view these things with so much alarm, but with the easy games of the early season cancelled this year, it is absolutely necessary to make a final selection of men at once.

Buck and Iocavelli were overworked in the Ford contest. Buck should be used as a threat most of any game. Zengel, Ryan, Iocavelli and Coffman should do most of the early work carrying the ball, and young Harvey given a try about every seventh sortie. Zengel and Ryan can do the battering and then the speed of Buck and Iocavelli used as a chaser. Buck gave himself the ball about fifty per cent. too many times in last Saturday's game, thus ruining his effectiveness in the latter part of the contest.

Adam uncovered in his first two games of the season a versatile and dangerous eleven. The backfield shows everything in the way of speed, power, passing and punting ability, and the line defensive strength and hole opening proclivities on a par with lines of former years. They are unquestionably the best coached squad of boys in these parts, and with a few more brains in evidence on the field, the team will again carry the colors of Lower Merion to the top of the suburban flagpole.

Rush Chapter, D.A.R., Holds Luncheon Mon.

Mrs. Horace Jones Stresses Need of Helping the Foreign Born

MRS. J. NASH PRESIDES

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of N. S. D. A. R. opened the season with a get-together luncheon on Monday at the home of Mrs. Edwin C. Town, on Narberth avenue, Narberth. Owing to the indisposition of the regent, Mrs. Hugh Glenn Martin, Mrs. John C. Nash, the second vice-regent, was in charge of the meeting.

The speaker was Mrs. Horace M. Jones, State Chairman of Americanism of the D. A. R., which is a recently formed committee in the organization, and is an outgrowth of the committee on Patriotic Education. According to Mrs. Jones, one of the first essentials of this committee is to aid the foreign born citizens to understand American history and what it means and to help them to speak English and to understand the meaning of the words. "One must teach these people to become good citizens and to study political questions," she said. "Americanism," said Mrs. Jones, "is friendliness to the foreign born and under privileged. One must try to make them know and love our country and to make them good citizens. Practical Americanism is what the foreigners need. This can be done by feeding many of the needy and helping them to get employment of some kind as many of them are unemployed. No elaborate programs are needed. It is not the number of citizens we have, but the quality that counts, and in educating them in practical ways, the D. A. R.'s will do much in the way of making them good citizens."

Following Mrs. Jones' address there was a business meeting, at which many matters were discussed relative to the business of the organization. Reports from the Secretary, Treasurer and many of the chairmen were read. It was voted to spending $15.00 for the planting of a tree at Fort Necessity called the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter Tree.

Mrs. Paul H. Egolf gave the salute to the Flag, and Mrs. J. H. Baker read the October message from the President General urging every member of the organization to study the political situation and to vote.

The ladies in charge of the luncheon were Mrs. Thomas C. Dunlap, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer and Mrs. Walter O'Sullivan.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, November 21, at the home of Mrs. Robert Dothard, 221 Wynnewood avenue. The speaker will be Mrs. John Pennington, "Why." Reports of the 37th Pennsylvania State Conference will be read.

Simply as a part of the scenery, it is pleasant to view the building at the west end of Haverford Avenue. A brick Colonial structure, dignified, friendly, strong, attractive.

... THE PATH OF ELECTRIC RATES GOES

STEADILY DOWN

Unlike any other commodity or service, electricity had no "1929 peak" in its rates.

Today—despite the great deflation which the world has experienced since 1929—the cost-of-living in America is still 44 per cent above the 1913 level.

Domestic electricity, on the contrary, today costs on the national average 34 per cent less than the 1913 level. The reduction is 41.4 per cent for the Philadelphia Electric Company System.

This Company's System, since 1922, has put into effect rate reductions which have meant a cumulative saving to its customers of more than $51,000,000.

A construction program has been continued, proving of immense value to the entire Philadelphia area in sustaining general business.

At a time when new hope is stirring throughout the land we venture to regard these achievements as a convincing record of valuable service.

Hitlerites Viewed as Most Important German Party by Narberth Man Abroad

abusive texts. There is much reciting of catch phrases and verses, generally in response to a shouted question by a group leader. Songs are aggressive and somewhat sanguine. One heard frequently is a demand to write off the social account with the pistol. Naturally, the bulk of the demand is for bread and for work, and the truth of the matter is that most of the demonstrators are obviously underfed and shabby. Their pet aversion seems to be the National Socialist party, otherwise known as the Nazis, the Hitlerites.

The "Iron Front"

"The Social Democrats carry as their symbol a red banner with three white arrows. It is called Die Eisene Front, or the Iron Front. Their demonstrations differ little from those of the Communists, except for the very important matter of a regular uniform, which consists of blue shirts or shirt waists with red neckties or scarfs, and arm bands with the party insignia. They, too, are vastly concerned over the Hitlerites, to the extent that the last election saw a tentative coalition with the Communists. They represent the element that has been of greatest influence in post war German policies of social order and reconstruction. The difference between Communists and social Democrats is one of degree rather than kind. The social reforms and innovations of the regime of the past twelve years or so, are distinctly Marxian in character, tho' they have not approached a full realization of the Marxian program. The Communists represent an extreme socialization of state and are naturally aiming toward a Soviet ideal. The Iron Front is rather obviously disciplined, with a uniform, or at least a semblance of one. Members salute each other with raised fist and the greeting 'Freiheit' (Freedom).

Hitlerites Most Interesting

"I should remark that the terms Democratic or Republican, as they apply to German political parties have absolutely nothing in common with the American use of the terms. But that is probably old stuff to you. But the Hitlerites are the most important and interesting, political and psychologically. Hitler and his followers wear the party uniform, never possible. The uniform of the men consists of a brown shirt, brown riding breeches, leather boots, a Sam Browne belt, and a brown cap, which resembles in form that worn by officers of the French army. The party symbol is the swastika, or 'Zackenkreuz' as it is called in German. It usually appears in blue, on a white circle against a red background. The swastika is worn as every possible form of ornament and decoration. Belt buckles, cuff links, lapel buttons, brooches, arm bands, and even tie pins and clasps. The strategy is to keep it always before the people. The Hitler salute, as in fact the entire scheme of organization, is frankly modelled on Fascism in Italy in its earlier manifestations. The salute is accompanied by the salutation, 'Heil, Hitler,' which is rather literally translated as Hail, Hitler. As I stated in my previous letter, there is a strongly marked trend to regard the National Socialist party as a one man show. I incline to the belief, from observation, knowledge of German temperament, and historic precedent, that it is more in the nature of a movement than a party. It is the avowed intention of the party to discard party forms and limitations when they get into power. The ideal is frankly nationalistic to an almost extreme degree. I have a feeling that when the Nazis sing 'Deutschland uber Alles,' it has a literal as well as poetic significance.

Von Papen Plan Stop-Gap

"The prevailing feeling seems to be that the coming election will bring no serious change, unless, and there is always that foreboding 'unless,' something serious or highly significant occurs during the next few weeks. Many of the manoeuvres of the past two months on the part of the Von Papen Regime are interpreted as stealing Nazi thunder. An example is the demand for German equality of armament, in principle at least, as a prerequisite to any German interest in, or participation in, arms conferences. Hitler has always advocated a 'free' Germany, which means free of the restrictions of the Versailles treaty. The most galling of all German national thorns in the flesh, are the War Guilt clauses and the stripping of 'defense' weapons. The Von Papen plan for economic rehabilitation, (which in effect amounts to a mortgaging of the nation's income, in part), is a gamble that is probably as much a political stop gap, as a serious economic reform. It smacks of the Wheat Purchasing ventures of the Farm Board. Without a party prejudice and with no pretensions to a profound economic knowledge, I have a feeling that it will not succeed, and may not even be fully tested.

Narberth Juniors Active in Convention at Bellevue

The Juniors of Narberth took active part in the Convention doings held at the Bellevue-Stratford last week, and many were seen at the luncheons, teas and dinners, as well as at the special conferences and talks given from morning until night.

Miss Alberta Davis, delegate for the club, was registered at the Bellevue from Tuesday until Friday, and the club's president, Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, and the first vice-president, Mrs. James D. Moore, each spent a day and a night there, attending the various functions. Other members who attended different meetings and dinners were Miss Margaret Livingston, club treasurer; Mrs. Robert Tabor, Mrs. Paul C. Boyd, Miss Dorothy Merkel, Miss Helen Reiss and the club's senior advisor, Mrs. B. J. Keenan. Miss Davis will make her report at the next regular meeting of the club, and the many ideas and contacts which a convention provides will be heard by the membership.

Next Thursday, October 27th, there will be a Halloween party in charge of Mrs. Paul C. Boyd as chairman, and many stunts and games are being planned. The members will come in costume and if past experiences are a suitable means of prediction, there will be some ingenious types of man and beast represented. The party will be held in the club room of the Community Building and members and their sponsored guests are most welcome.

Twelve new members have already been added to the club this year, and there is room for plenty more. Mrs. Harold Griest, chairman of membership, will be glad to hear from anyone who wishes to join this live and active group.

Miss Anna Stewart to Speak at Presbyterian Church

On Sunday evening Miss Anna Bell Stewart, missionary, is to be guest speaker at the Narberth Presbyterian Church. Those who have ever heard Miss Stewart in the past will need no urging to attend.

Miss Stewart is in charge of the Pattie C. Stockdale Home, Colcord, W. Va. A most interesting work is done at that station among boys and girls who must, of necessity, leave their homes in order to receive a high school education.

There are many thrilling and touching stories to be told of these mountaineers and Miss Stewart's vivacious manner of relating her experience always meets with enthusiasm.

Lansdowne to Meet Lower Merion at Ardmore Saturday

Lansdowne comes to Pennypacker field tomorrow to play the Lower Merion eleven in the third start of the year for the locals. Lansdowne, next to Radnor and Cheltenham, is Lower Merion's oldest opponent among the schools that they meet today. In the last ten years the boys from the Borough have defeated the Maroon team two times, once in 1926, when Bishop scored two touchdowns and a safety to overcome Miller's touchdown for a 16 to 7 victory, and in 1928, when Norton blocked Kohlhas' punt to fall on it for a touchdown, and the subsequent point after touchdown gave them a victory, 7 to 6, Ernie Mandes having scored a six-pointer.

Those are the only two games in which the Lansdowne lads have been able to score on the local team. In these years the Maroon teams have piled up a total of 155 points, winning in 1930 and 1931 by the same score, 18 to 0.

The starting line-up for tomorrow's fuss will be practically the same as at Haverford. Captain Bob Taylor is likely to start the game at guard, as Adam has so many backs that he has not room for all of them to see action. Zengel, Ryan, Iocavelli and Buck will likely start in the backfield, with Coffman, Johnson and Sautters getting a call to substitute at any moment. Dominic Polilli should be in shape to take his usual place at tackle.
